

London Talks

Programme

London is experiencing important changes: the new London Plan, Brexit, the housing crisis, the proliferation of short-term letting and climate change. Many of these issues are not local to London or to the United Kingdom. Cities across the world are experiencing pressure from increasing house prices, marked increases in short-term letting and the spectre of climate change.

Our new seminar series London Talks creates a space to exchange knowledge on these changes linking them to LSE's research. In so doing, we aim to create partnerships with significant London stakeholders and show how research and practice in London link to cities across the world.

Session – 6.15pm to 7.30pm

Speakers

Wednesday February 6th

Parish Hall – room 1.02

How does planning deregulation impact neighbourhoods?

Nancy Holman (LSE)

Alessandra Mossa (LSE)

Gary Bakall (London Borough of Camden)

Wednesday March 6th

Parish Hall – room 1.02

Can we grow food on the Green Belt?

Alan Mace (LSE)

Jo Wilson

Martin Stott (Garden Organic)

Wednesday April 10th

New Academic Building – Alumni Theatre

How is gentrification impacting contemporary London?

Alan Mace (LSE)

Antoine Paccoud (LISER)

Julia King (LSE)

Patria Roman-Velazquez (Loughborough University/Latin Elephant)

Wednesday May 1st

New Academic Building – Alumni Theatre

What type of growth should we be aiming for?

Alex Jan (ARUP)

Neil Lee (LSE)

Wednesday June 5th

New Academic Building – Alumni Theatre

Can alternative housing ease the crisis?

Melissa Fernandez Arrigoitia (Lancaster)

Gabriela Neves-de-Lima (LSE)